General information

BPP is a leading provider of professional legal education, committed to providing you with an outstanding programme of study in Holborn, Leeds, Manchester or Waterloo. BPP provides the skills, resources and individual support needed to prepare you for the realities of legal practice including first rate facilities, award-winning pro bono projects and an unrivalled careers service.

Taught by experienced solicitors from a variety of practice backgrounds, you will benefit from a programme designed in close collaboration with leading law firms and a range of electives ensuring you can study the area of legal practice most important to you. With a strong reputation within the legal community, many of the country's top law firms exclusively send their trainees to BPP.

At BPP you have the opportunity to graduate with an LPC and a Masters degree in Professional Legal Practice. For further information, please visit http://www.bpplawschool.com/programmes/awardofllm/award_of_llm.htm.

BPP Law School, Leeds is situated in new premises in Whitehall Quay in Leeds, close to the city centre and transport links. The facilities have been specially designed for the needs of postgraduate law trainees. It has excellent teaching and IT facilities, a well-stocked library and extensive online resources.

BPP's award winning pro bono activities are well established and include a legal advice clinic. Practitioner groups meet regularly on site, and students are encouraged to attend sessions.

A well-developed careers service is available to students as soon as an offer of a place has been accepted and includes access to training contract opportunities placed exclusively with BPP by employers. The Law School hosts regular careers fairs supported by local and national employers. The Access to Practice Scheme provides over 200 mentors from practice, and a placement for students in Leeds is guaranteed.
